

JH Taylor Community Group

John Henry, or JH Taylor as he was known, was a five-time winner of the Open Championship (1894, 1895, 1900, 1909, 1913). Taylor had a keen interest in designing courses as well as playing on them and is credited with contributing to courses across England, including Royal Birkdale, the Southport-based links which has played host to The Open on 10 occasions.

The recently-formed JH Taylor Community Group is a group of golf clubs that were designed by J H Taylor. It allows for reciprocal play on the basis of a reduced rate green fee.
