THE VENUE

Woodsome Hall is a Jacobean Hall which has survived with many of the original features still intact. The main corridor which, still has the original York stone floor, houses the original staircase that has recently had its walls stripped of plaster to reveal the original timber frame.

We have several rooms available for all occasions - the oak-panelled Dining Hall, with its enormous fireplace and carved lintel houses the main clock which dates back to 1652 is a great room for theatre style conferences or presentations.

The Jessop Room is a private room overlooking the first tee and is ideal for smaller occasions.

The Kay room has private access to the bar and is a beautifully presented room which is suitable for all celebrations.

The Dartmouth lounge and casual bar is packed full of character features and provides a relaxed environment for all occasions.

During the summer months, the courtyard is a popular place to take in the stunning beauty of the clubhouse.
